Marching Forward Today

Training Faithful Servants for Tomorrow – Today!

Opening Thought...

Arthur S. Wood said, "It takes a lifetime to prepare a sermon, because it takes a lifetime to prepare a man of God." As President, I am so proud and thankful for God's work regarding our students. Your prayers and financial support in equipping His saints for the ministry and the "fields where He sends them" is greatly valued. During these last days, preparing servants of God remains an incredibly high priority. Let us make our resources count for God as He molds the clay.

Praising Him...

All of us at TSBC are very pleased with the caliber of our students - graduates, those currently enrolled, and the substantial number of new students joining us this fall. One of our new full time students is a young man from Papua New Guinea - our first student from that country. He is pursuing a Bachelor of Arts with a minor in business. Please pray for him. Our Akron location continues to grow each semester as God blesses all that we do in His name.

Fall registration is wrapping up. Please pray that each potential student who desires God's word and wants to serve Him is able to enroll in fall classes. Our mission statement remains "Training Faithful Servants for Tomorrow, Today," and is lived out through a relentless commitment to our students.

Proving Guidance...

To help equip students for real world ministry, each is required to complete a series of Christian Service Projects. Our staff often serves alongside students. These projects are visible in the surrounding communities for all who have eyes to see. You're invited to identify your ministry work and ministry needs with these projects. This is another way for all of us to be in unification as your college.

Building Partnerships...

I am pleased to announce our new Cohort partnership with First Baptist Church of Kenova, West Virginia. The program consists of five congregation members joining in pursuit of a degree, while at the same time performing Christian Service Projects in their church. This is a great kingdom investment for any church. Dr. Steve Willis is the pastor and administrative coordinator of the program. If you are interested in a Cohort at your assembly, please contact me.

Hammer and Nails...

TSBC continues with facility improvements. This month we've replaced dilapidated twenty-year-old carpet with high quality commercial grade carpet. We've also resurfaced the concrete and asphalt areas outside the Administration Building. Our next improvement project will be to insulate the ceiling of the Administrative Building.

Faithful Partners...

As the college continues to recognize Business Community Partners for their faithful contributions, Tri-State Bible College sincerely expresses our thanks and appreciation to Mr. Joe Freeman, Quality Care Nursing Services; Mr. Mike Fink, FoodFair; and Mr. Steve Cielic, McDonalds; all of South Point, Ohio.

My door is open. I hope you are able to visit soon.

In Christ,
